

SLICK SYSTEM TO BEAT AUDIT SAYS HORMEL

"Cy" Thompson's Peculations
Have Been Going on Over
Period of 10 Years

MISSING CHECK CLUE

Suspicion Aroused When $5,000
Item Fails to Show Up—
Busy Checking Defaulter

A. W. Wright, counsel for Thompson, announced today that no effort would be made for the present to obtain his client's release on bail as he has learned the prosecution would cause his arrest on new charges until his total bail reached $100,000. This amount, Mr. Wright said, could not be raised.

Austin, Minn., July 19.—Audit of the account of R. J. Thompson, former comptroller of George A. Hormel and Company, local packers, so far show a shortage of $470,000, it was announced today by Jay C. Hormel, vice-president of the company.

Thompson, who has confessed to the defalcation, is in the county jail as he has not been able to furnish $25,000 bail.

The auditors have practically finished their work, Mr. Hormel said. A complete statement detailing the manner in which Thompson worked will be announced at a meeting of the corresponding banks of the Hormel company to be held at Chicago tomorrow morning.

The shortages date back to January 1, 1916, the auditors found. The heaviest single item disclosed thus far is $15,000.

Austin, Minn., July 19.—He had the slickest bookkeeping stunt in the United States.

Thus did Jay Hormel, vice president of the Hormel Packing Company, tonight answer the question which mystifies the city. "How did R. J. (Cy) Thompson, company comptroller, steal upwards of $500,000 from the company over a period of ten years, and avoid discovery so long?"

The huge defalcation was accomplished by transferring receipts of the Hormel Packing company, which does a business of nearly $3,000,000 a month, to the account of the Oakdale Farms, Thompson's greatest agricultural enterprise. When the books of the packing company underwent their periodical audits by accountants, the amounts would be played by Thompson among the assets of the corporation. It was an unbeatable system for years.

Missing Check Brings Exposure.
The shortage was discovered a week ago by Jay Hormel, when he failed to find a $5,000 check, emitted to the company. Hormel traced the check to Thompson, who admitted his guilt, and "came clean" with other embezzlements.

"Thompson is or was, I say, comptroller of the company promoted from cashier," said Hormel. "When he was cashier he had a comptroller who checked him. When he became comptroller he hid his own checking. That's the whole story. But for our search for this $5,000 check he might have continued his peculations for some time yet."

Thompson's nerve remains unbroken. "I've lived up to it," he told newspaper men. "I have turned over more than enough to make good. The settlement will be ample. I do not expect to be prosecuted."

Asked how he kept the shortages from accountants, Thompson first replied he had not taken any money prior to the last audit, which he said was in November, but later admitted five shortages did not appear in the books when the accountants were there.

Thompson indicated he had put most of the stolen money into his farms, blooded stock and city property. He was unwilling to answer further questions and referred interviewers to Jay Hormel, who accompanied him to Le Roy, Saturday and brought him back to Austin today. Thompson went to his home where he refused to see callers.

They rode in a $1,000 automobile which Thompson bought a week ago and for which a garage is under construction at his city home. It is related that a Minneapolis automobile dealer brought down a handsome car similar to the one Thompson had for another Austin man. Knowing Thompson he invited him for a ride. They went into the country, and the agent it is said ran the car up to seventy miles an hour.

That car looks good to me," said Thompson. "Mine is too small. Have another one like this down here tomorrow at 2 o'clock and get your money."

The agent said Mr. Hormel drove the car today.

Checking Thompson's Assets.
Jay Hormel is the son of George A. Hormel, president of the packing company and is devoting his entire time to trying to learn whether Thompson's assets are sufficient to cover his shortage.

While it is claimed he has property worth close to $1,000,000, he has indebtedness of between $100,000 and $200,000. It is claimed for building material, construction and other work. The value of his famous herd of Holsteins is problematical because of the increased value of live stock. His other farm property was affected by lower prices.

TITLED BEAUTY'S WAR ROMANCE IS BLASTED

VISCOUNTESS UFFINGTON

By Newspaper Enterprise.

London, July 19.—Viscountess Uffington, heavily veiled, the son of the late Earl of Clarendon, has just filed a petition in the divorce court here asking for a decree for restitution of conjugal rights. This in English courts is the usual first step in application for divorce.

The father-in-law of the viscountess, Lord Uffington, recently at the Isle of Wight and was drowned. His husband inherits the title and estate.

The viscountess had about everything that society and good luck can give a woman. He was handsome and he had a good stock of American dollars, for his mother was an American heiress, daughter of the late Bradley Martin, New York capitalist.

War came and the viscountess enlisted, coming up as a substitute as soon as he reached the age of 17. He was sent to Scotland for training.

There he met the viscountess, who was Mary Williamson George, daughter of the town clerk of a Scottish village. They were married soon after.

The bridegroom was sent to France for active duty. Shortly before the armistice he was wounded so badly that one leg had to be amputated and his left arm was permanently crippled.

PLANS PROGRAM OF ATHLETICS FOR CITY BOYS

J. J. MacLeod, Boys Work Director,
Has Plans For Fall and Winter Sports

An intensive program of fall and winter athletics for the boys of the city is being planned by J. J. MacLeod, boys' welfare director. Mr. MacLeod left today for Lake Umbagog, N. H., to attend boys' work camp and from there will go to Toronto, Canada, where he will have charge of the advanced physical instruction work for the Canadian War Boys' club. Mr. MacLeod will return about September 1 with his family.

The work thus far done by Mr. MacLeod has been somewhat in the nature of a survey. He became acquainted with most of the boys in the city through the summer camps, and in other ways is pleased with the possibilities in Bismarck and especially with the assistance rendered by some of the older boys of the city.

Track athletics will be introduced in the grade schools with the opening of school. Mr. MacLeod hopes to interest every boy over 12 years of age in healthful, clean, outdoor sports. Soccer will be played with the beach or become too cold for track athletics. Basketball leagues will be organized in the winter and indoor track meets conducted. Mr. MacLeod is a lover of baseball and next spring he hopes to have a series of baseball games among the boys of the city, which will continue a summer.

Mr. MacLeod also would like to see the high school gymnasium open for certain evening during the winter for the use of the boys.

NUMEROUS CALLS FOR HARVESTERS

Numerous calls for harvest hands were to be filled by the employment bureau today. About 4,000 calls were received yesterday.

From McLean county, it was stated that an effort is being made to find farm hands in drought-stricken areas in the army of harvesters needed in some of the regions.

Number of harvest hands is up to 10,000 in some of the regions.

Forecast.

LEMKE OPPOSES RAILROAD SUIT

Argument on a motion to dismiss the suit brought in United States district court to restrain the state railroad commission and state officials from interfering with the railroad rates fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission will be heard in Fargo Wednesday, according to Attorney General Lemke who made the motion. He said dismissal was asked on the ground that an appeal was pending in the U. S. Supreme Court from the commission order.

EXPLAINS STATUS OF SOX PLAYERS IN BIG SERIES

Chicago Club Officials Claim
Men Were Still Under Contract

BURNS TESTIFIES.
Chicago, July 19.—Bill Burns, former major league pitcher, took the stand in the trial of the indicted White Sox today to tell his first-hand story of the alleged conspiracy to throw the 1919 world series. Burns was indicted as one of the conspirators but agreed to furnish the evidence.

Chicago, July 19.—Willie Kild Olson and Harry Grabner, manager and secretary, respectively, of the Chicago White Sox, testified for the state today in the baseball trial, telling of the contracts between the indicted players and the club. Their testimony was designed to prove the prosecution's contention that the men were under contract to the club during the world series and not only during the regular season as the defense contended.

Both men said the players were under contract in the series and 1918 season. Olson testified that he had to shake their test money although they could not point out any clause in the contracts which was interpreted as evidence of a contract.

HOLD MAN AS MAIL ROBBER

George W. Winkler, who was state bound in Chicago for continuing to bring Mr. Winkler about, was held today. A total of $1,000 of bonds was set for the man. The man was held in the jail. Whether all of the bonds have been set is not stated.

DEVELERA HELD A VISIONARY BY ULSTER LEADERS

No Irish Settlement Possible

CRAIG BACK IN BELFAST

Not An Indication That Negotiations For Peace Are Broken, However

Belfast, July 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The return to Belfast of Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier and the members of his cabinet who have been with him in London in connection with the Irish peace conference must not be taken as a termination of the negotiations, it was declared today by Col. Spender, secretary of the delegation, on its return. It is thought, indeed, that the delegation will be recalled to London next week.

Edmond DeValera is regarded by the Ulster Unionists as a visionary and the feeling in Unionist circles here is that no discussion among all the parties concerned in the Irish settlement will be possible until he considerably modifies his position.

MRS. O'REILLY, PIONEER HERE, SUCCUMBS TODAY

Had Lived in Bismarck Since 1884—Death Due to Pneumonia

FUNERAL TO BE THURSDAY

Mrs. Bernard O'Reilly, one of Bismarck's best known pioneer mothers, passed away at 4:30 o'clock this morning in a local hospital after an illness of but a week with pneumonia. The news of Mrs. O'Reilly's death came as a great shock to her host of friends in the city.

Mrs. O'Reilly, whose maiden name was Margaret Burbage, was 66 years old, having been born June 12, 1855, in County Leitrim, Ireland. She was married there in 1871 to Bernard O'Reilly, and in 1884 the adventurous young couple came to America. Three years after landing in the land of promise they came on to Bismarck. This was in 1887 when Bismarck was one of the frontier towns of the great western territory then being opened to a steadily increasing stream of settlers. Mrs. O'Reilly had made her home in Bismarck since that time. Her husband was for many years employed at the state penitentiary. Mr. O'Reilly died July 19, 1916.

During her long residence in Bismarck Mrs. O'Reilly had been a devoted member of the Catholic church and was very active in St. Mary's affairs. She was known for her charitable and kind disposition. Funeral services will be held in the church in which Mrs. O'Reilly was so devoted. St. Mary's, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Father Slag will officiate.

Mrs. O'Reilly leaves to mourn her loss three brothers, John and James Burbage, of Bismarck, and James of Livonia, N. D., three sisters, Mrs. Peter Shier, of Linton, N. D., Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Marcella Hines, of Bismarck, one daughter, Mrs. A. H. Barrett, 710 Avenue A, with whom she made her home, and four grandchildren, besides a wide circle of friends.

RETAIL FOOD COSTS LOWER

Decline of Three-Tenths of One Percent Shown

Washington, July 19.—The retail cost of food to the average family declined three tenths of one percent in June as compared with prices in May, while wholesale food prices declined slightly less than one percent, according to statements today by the department of labor. Declines were noted in retail prices of sugar, plate beef, chicken, butter, rib roast, bacon, canned salmon, fresh milk, bread, macaroni, baked beans, canned tomatoes, coffee, and prunes.

Among articles which increased in retail prices were potatoes, flour and ham. Wholesale prices of farm products showed a decline of 1.2 percent. Wholesale food prices decreased equally with declines in the wholesale prices of clothing and miscellaneous commodities, were less than 1 percent.

TO RETURN EAST ON BOND SALE

George W. Winkler, who was state bound in Chicago for continuing to bring Mr. Winkler about, was held today. A total of $1,000 of bonds was set for the man. The man was held in the jail. Whether all of the bonds have been set is not stated.

FACTS FOR CITY TAXPAYERS

Only a few more days intervene before the people of Bismarck will express themselves upon a $30,000 bond issue for the purchase of a fire truck, for an addition to the pest house and for the purchase of an incinerator.

The Tribune has been marshaling figures to show that now is no time to add to the public debt and that through the practice of economy in the operation of the city, a fire truck can be purchased out of the general funds and what repairs are necessary can be made at the pest house without recourse to a bond issue. As for the incinerator there is no pressing demand at this time.

While investigating the tax charges in Bismarck, the Tribune finds that some of its figures on the tax load have been too conservative. Records at the court house show that the school budget is $125,940 as against $80,000 as originally quoted. This takes in every item including interest.

For all purposes exclusive of state and county taxes, the people of Bismarck pay annually $352,214.88. In addition to this the taxpayers of the Capital City must pay their share of the state and county taxes. County taxes aggregate $233,155 a year, so it is apparent that Bismarck must raise more than $400,000 a year in city, county and state taxes.

If the people want to voice a protest next Tuesday against increasing that amount they should vote No to all three propositions.

Here are the items which must be met solely by a levy against Bismarck citizens.

General expenses . . . . .	$116,306.00
Real Poll . . . . .	1,896.00

NEGRO ORDERED AWAY FROM CITY UNTIL YEAR 1950

Carl Smith, 56, negro, has a date in Bismarck in 1950. Smith has been "hanged round" Bismarck for a few weeks, unable to discern any visible means of obtaining three square meals a day, the police charged him with vagrancy. "If you give you 30 days in jail," said Police Magistrate (Cushman), "you may pay the costs and I'll suspend the sentence if you will promise to stay away from Bismarck until 1950."

Smith scratched his head, a creed and as he left said: "See you all in 1950."

CLAIMS ARMY OFFICER TOOK $5,000 GRAFT

Mrs. Emma Bergdoll Tells U. S. Committee She Paid This Amount

DENIES CHARGES.
Little Rock, Ark., July 19.—Major Bruce Campbell, director of education and formerly counsel for prisoners at Governors Island, New York, denied today charges of Mrs. Emma G. Bergdoll before a house investigating committee at Washington that he had accepted money to help her son Grover C. Bergdoll to escape.

Washington, July 19.—Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, of Philadelphia, today told a house committee investigating the escape of Grover C. Bergdoll her slacker son, that she gave $5,000 to Major Bruce Campbell, an army officer at Governor's Island for use among high officials at Washington to help obtain his freedom. Campbell, she said, demanded $100,000 but she refused.

Mrs. Bergdoll said she took the money to the island and handed it to Grover, by whom it was turned over to Campbell who she said told Grover he handed the money to another officer. Major Campbell recently told the committee he did not receive one dollar from Bergdoll. He had been summoned from Camp Pike to answer the charges of Mrs. Bergdoll.

Mrs. Bergdoll said she did not know the name of the man mentioned by Campbell as having received the money but asserted he was an agent of the government.

Campbell told me he could not accept any money for himself, said Mrs. Bergdoll, but that he wanted the $100,000 for the higher ups at Washington and New York.

OFFLEY CASE GOES TO JURY

Hettinger, N. D., July 19.—The fact that H. H. Offley charged with the murder of M. K. B. with Golden Valley county rancher, was expected to be in the hands of the jury early this afternoon. Following the introduction of two witnesses each in rebuttal state and defense began long arguments followed by Judge Berry's charge.

OWNERSHIP BY U. S. OF SHIPS PROVES COSTLY

Astounding Deficit is Revealed in U. S. Shipping Board
Operations

LASKER READY TO TALK

Chairman Says That Astounding Discrepancies Are Found In The Books

Washington, July 19.—With the publication today of revised estimates of the shipping board's deficit for the last fiscal year showing a total of $189,000,000, approximately $250,000,000 more than previous estimates, Chairman Lasker, of the board, said he was prepared to appear before Congressional committees to explain the condition of the board's finances and ask for an appropriation of approximately $200,000,000 for the current year. In increasing the newest estimates of the deficits incurred in operation of the government fleet chairman Lasker declared the books of the shipping board were in a deplorable condition and that they could not have been kept in much different shape had they been kept with a view to cheating and deceiving Congress and the country.

"I know and want to explain," the chairman added, "that Admiral Benson (former chairman of the board) and auditor Treedale had not the remotest thing to do with such gross misrepresentation."

Deception to Public.
In stating that an examination of the books showed that $380,000,000 had been expended from the public funds of the shipping board last year, Mr. Lasker said that this "revealed an astounding case of absolute deception to the country and congress."

"The president was astonished and dismayed that such a condition could exist when I had these figures before him this afternoon but he wanted me to give the public the facts," he added.

MANY FARMERS AND ROTARIANS TO GO ON TRIP

New Salem Dairy Tour To Be Big Event in Western North Dakota

Between 50 and 75 Burleigh county farmers and members of the Rotary club of Bismarck will leave the city at 7 a. m. Wednesday for the tour of the New Salem Holstein circuit with hundreds of other business men and farmers from western North Dakota. Over 50 farmers had registered with the Rotary club today for transportation. The party leaves the Tribune and Lahr Motor Sales corner, Fourth and Thayer streets, at 7 a. m. The Rotary club will furnish a 1/2 share of the entertainment. A 1/2 hand will be taken on the trip. Bands from Mandan and Ashley will help make the tour a success.

The Bismarck party expects to be in New Salem by 8 a. m. (mountain time) and to return to the city about 5 o'clock in the evening.

The club will endeavor to provide transportation for any farmers who appear at 7 a. m. tomorrow who have not previously signified their intention of going.

N. D. BANK MAKES $50,000 LOAN

Amount of Registered Checks
Shown $215,000

The monthly report of the Bank of North Dakota, issued today, shows among other things that the bank has recently borrowed $50,000. Officials of the bank declined today to say where the money was borrowed, but it is understood to have been borrowed from a bank outside North Dakota.

The statement shows registered checks amounted to $215,510.89 on June 15.

Profits of the bank are listed as having increased $4,705 in the past month.

Total footings of the bank are $11,218,658.89. A decrease in public deposits from $7,241,113.99 on June 15 to $7,673,171.42 on July 15 is shown.

FARGO TAKES ALL GAMES IN HOME SERIES

Bismarck Players and Fargo Fans Agree That Deal Given is Pretty Raw

The Bismarck players and Fargo fans agree that the deal given to the Fargo series was not so bad. The deal was that the Bismarck players would play in Fargo and the Fargo players would play in Bismarck. The deal was not so bad as it might seem at first. The Bismarck players were not paid as much as the Fargo players, but they were not paid as much as the Fargo players. The deal was not so bad as it might seem at first.

Not only are visiting clubs the breaking point with the Fargo club, however, but the fans here who like to see sport seem to be down on the deal. The attendance at the opening game called Booster day was about 4,000 and at Saturday's game about 1,000. Many of these Fargo fans raved the Fargo club.

The Saturday game became a joke after the first inning. Cobb singled for Bismarck and was sacrificed to second and went to third on Lehman's hit. Lehman started to steal second and Cobb started home. Cobb was lying on the base and the catcher did not yet have the ball but Cobb was called out. The Bismarck team became disgusted when McNeary was called safe at first in Fargo's half after he was out by five feet. Wingfield held the ball and let a runner go around the bases and score without throwing the ball. In the third inning Joe Collins went in to pitch.

Collins refused to pitch Taylor Sunday under the circumstances and put in Willford new pitcher obtained from Cando.

Most of the Fargo players felt badly about the affair as the Bismarck men because most of them are high class ball players. Schaffer, Fargo shortstop and one of the best in the state made the Bismarck players feel a little better by telling them Fargo received a square deal in Bismarck.

Among the visitors to the games was Dolly Elder, former Bismarck player. Elder has partnership in an agency for the Stearns-Knight automobile in Iowa and was on his way to his wife's home in Jamestown for a visit. The crowd Sunday was larger than the one at the Saturday game. The Fargo team deserved the Sunday victory. Charley Boardman pitched a fine game and Willford new Bismarck pitcher was hit at opportune times.

BIG HANDS—NOT GLASSES—MAKE TOPORCER DIAMOND STAR

GEORGE TOPORCER AND HIS BASEBALL HANDS

George Toporcer's hands, not his spectacles, are certain to land him the job in the majors next year. His mitts are uncommonly large. They resemble a shovel when he is scooping up the bouncers. Big hands made Honus Wagner one of the surest infielders the game has ever had. They are any ball player's biggest asset.

When Toporcer jumped from an unknown sandlotter to the St. Louis Cardinals last spring and made good he received a flood of publicity because he wore glasses.

Respected infielders in the big leagues are rare birds. He made good with the Cards and held down the second base job until Milton Stock holdout returned to the job.

Of course Toporcer is not as good a player as Stock, yet but he will be in another season unless all signs of good players fail.

When Stock returned and got into condition Rickey sent Toporcer back to Syracuse in the International League. Sam Bredon, owner of the Cards, holds a half interest in the Syracuse club and it serves as a farm for him.

The youngster uses his head in trapping bouncers. He doesn't get set and let a hard hit roller swoop over his shoulders. He figures out the ball the instant the batter hits it and there is a sign of it hopping he hopes with it.

PLAN OTHER GOOD GAMES

Friday will be Booster Day for Baseball in Bismarck. The Minot club under the management of Red Moore will come to Bismarck on that day for a three game series. The Friday and Saturday games probably will start at 6 p. m. and the Sunday game at 1 p. m. Teams will be selected to sell tickets at the regular price and it is hoped that an attendance can be obtained equal to that of the last Fargo game here. The management hopes to avoid another subscription to enable the team to continue.

Hankinson or Dickinson will play a three game series in Bismarck on July 22 and 24. Bismarck had difficulty in beating Dickinson in the first game played at that city. Dickinson has a pitcher named Potter who has the reputation of being one of the best in the state.

Lead has accepted Bismarck terms to a three game series but the dates have not been decided.

Pierre S. D. has issued a challenge to Bismarck for three games to be played at Mobridge. S. D. the winner to play Mobridge. As Mobridge is a red hot baseball team the series may be arranged later on. The Mobridge management offers the playing teams the entire gate receipts with no reservation on the charge to be 75 cents. Mobridge is said to have had a large crowd which ever saw a ball game in South Dakota there being 10,000 at the Mitchell Mobridge game last year.

On his farm north of Austin he spent many thousands of dollars on buildings to house his $100,000 herd of Holstein cows and his $20,000 Dorset hogs. He had one of the finest Holstein herds in the state and the cows were cleaned with vacuum cleaners.

Electric fans were installed in the cow barns, so arranged as to drive all flies to a room at one end of the building, where they were destroyed by chemical gases. His hog barn was steam heated.

His Oakdale trail from the Twin Cities to Chicago was another spectacular piece of work. He conceived the idea of naming it after his farms and he planned an artistic cutstone gateway to be erected at the Iowa state line where the trail passed Oakdale farm.

Cy was one of the most public spirited men in the city. His subscriptions always were among the ugke for every cause. If a minister's salary needed raising Cy raised it. If a church needed painting he had it done.

What will Cy do today? got to be a regular morning salutation among men on their way to business. Now let us talk about Cy. was a remark heard at every meeting of women. When conversation lagged, someone would ask: Where does he get his money?

But no one seemed to suspect that he did not have a hidden mine. Cy was not a gambler. In the town mostly accepted sense. He did not dissipate his wealth. His home life was ideal. He loved his wife and son. When his son Gerald recently was baptized the minister said: You will be known by the name by which you are baptized. That so said the boy then baptize me Cy Thomson Junior.

His wife is a quiet home body who has not aspired for so long. She was as happy as a lark in her new little home they moved in the first year of their married life as she has been in the past in home he owns today. She lived in her support of her husband and today start all over again with Cy.

Still have Faith in Him

There are men and women in Austin and Leroy who say this deflection and attendant publicity is only some more of Cy's sports. They are not. They look to see Cy come back driving his big car through the streets again and expect him to build more automobile trails.

Probably no place will be so affected by the unhappy fall of Mr. Thomson as the village of Leroy. He put Leroy on the map every resident of the place declares for his farm and his wonderful playgrounds drew thousands of people and the village was the gainer.

Cy talked calmly about his trouble. He seemed just as cool and collected under this cloud as he was in his days of amazing prosperity. He declared that at the present about his only concern is to get his accounts at the packing house cleaned up.

All employees on additional buildings at the farms have been discharged and the trustee is running the places under superintendents. The farms will be kept up to their standard until finally disposed of for the benefit of creditors.

Turns Over $1,000,000

The total property Mr. Thomson has turned over to his creditors is valued at about $1,000,000. He held considerable city property in addition to his farm holdings. He offered to assign his beautiful home in Nassau street but under the law his home could not be taken though he offered a deed to the property signed by himself and his wife.

This home is valued at $30,000. He bought it two years ago and this year further beautified it by sunken gardens, lily ponds and rare flowering plants.

Speculation centered about the probable total amount of Thomson's embezzlement. Thomson himself said that his speculations extended over several years but aside from the statement that they were at least $150,000, he would not comment on their extent.

It was known that the packing company had communicated with bankers relative to the defalcation, presumably to assure them that any paper they might hold against the packing plant was secured by ample resources.

Officers of the company said they would have no further statement to make until they were prepared to announce the total amount of the embezzlement probably next Wednesday.

I can tell the "Triple-Sized" wallboard by the name "Cornell" on the edge

BECAUSE I've constructed walls, ceilings and partitions with about every brand of wallboard on the market—and checked the results three or four years later—I've now adopted the rule of picking out Cornell-Wood-Board for every job. I find that Cornell doesn't warp or buckle because it is "Triple-Sized."

Every man and woman I've worked for admires Cornell's handsome "Oatmeal" finish.

My painter friends say that Cornell's "Mill-Primed" surface takes a perfect spread of paint or calamine without priming. So they always figure to paint a Cornell job for less.

NOVELIST IN BOAT TRIP ON PIONEER TRAIL

Lewis R. Freeman Follows Lewis and Clark Trail Over Yellowstone River

MAKES STOP IN BISMARCK

Plans to Continue Boating Trip Down Missouri Until He Reaches St. Louis

Adventure still lurks on the Lewis and Clark trail. Lewis R. Freeman, novelist, short story writer and war correspondent, found on a trip down the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers to Bismarck, N. D., evening and plans to leave tomorrow continuing to back track the Lewis and Clark trail to St. Louis.

Mr. Freeman made the trip from Williston to Bismarck in four days, averaging about 40 miles a day on the trip. He began the trip on the Yellowstone river in Montana and then went into the Missouri. He traveled in a 14 foot sectional steel boat, camping along the river all of the way. Mr. Freeman ordered a motor for his boat and expects to install it before leaving Bismarck tomorrow.

The novelist walked into the McKenzie hotel last night with pack on his back, sunburned and dusty, but well satisfied with his trip.

Has Narrow Escape.

The first day's journey on the Yellowstone river brought him to Big Timber, Montana. Approaching Billings, he had a narrow escape from going over the power company's dam making a landing only 20 or 40 feet from the dam. Narrow escapes from capsize boats are common to Mr. Freeman's experience, however, and he wears as a life preserver a Gieves jacket, which is a relic of the days when he served as an officer on the British grand fleet during the last two years of the war.

In making the trip, Mr. Freeman dropped from an elevation of 5,000 feet above sea level to 1,000 feet above sea level. He shot many rapids in the Yellowstone which he found a delightful river to travel on. The broad Missouri proved rather tame traveling.

Mr. Freeman has a ranch in California and he expects to go back there as soon as he has completed his trip. He has a contract with his publishers to write a book this summer, but he had kept his mind free from writing on the trip except that this morning in a cool hotel room and once more attired in conventional clothes he was laboring over some proofs he had just received.

Served in Navy.

During the war, Mr. Freeman served as war correspondent with the British army on the Saloniki, French and Italian fronts and then for two years served as an officer in the navy. Most of his time was devoted to writing accounts of the activities of the British Grand Fleet. He was assigned in turn to destroyers, submarines, trawlers, sweepers and all other vessels of marine warfare.

Another little vacation cruise of Mr. Freeman's was a 14,000 mile yachting trip to the Hawaiian, Marquesas, Samoan, and other islands. Among the other works of Mr. Freeman are "Many Fronts of the Ship," "The Sea Hounds," "The Ship," "The Hercules," "Last Summer Mr. Freeman enjoyed a boat trip down the Columbia river.

Republican Majority of Sub-

Daniels and Roosevelt

Washington, July 19.—Former Secretary Daniels and former Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy are denounced for the methods used in investigating the war time scandal among enlisted men at the New port training station in the majority report of a senate sub-committee made public today.

At the same time today, Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement denying Senators Ball of Delaware and Hayes of New Hampshire the two Republicans who constitute the majority of the investigating committee had issued their findings without giving him a hearing after promising to do so which

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Bismarck people. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. J. W. Moran, Sunnybrook, N. D., writes: "I had an operation for a draining kidney which was successful, but afterwards the other kidney became affected and I suffered for nearly a year with lameness, a rose in the back, I got so dizzy I couldn't stand. I went to the hospital and took treatments but got worse all the time. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got some. I am cured and feel better using two boxes. I feel entirely well and have since stood kidney tests for insurance and passed. O. K. thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Famous Concert Organist Plays for Radio Telephone Concert

Top—Magnificent pipe organ recently installed in the Carnegie Institute Concert Hall. Center—Charles Heinrich, concert organist, and musical director of the Carnegie Institute. Right—Heinrich is one of the best-known musicians in the United States. He has held his present post 14 years.

Bottom—Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh. A direct telephone connection between this building and the Westinghouse radio station at East Pittsburgh makes it possible to transmit Mr. Heinrich's recitals.

Charles Heinrich, one of the most talented of present day musical artists, director of music and concert organist of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, Pa., has taken advantage of radio telephony, the latest electrical miracle, to send his recitals out into the air. This marks another stride forward in radio entertainment as it is not often that a concert organist these people is easily reflected in the many letters they send in praise of his work.

In the future, if the present developments keep on at their present pace, good music can be easily obtained by every citizen. It is possible that small receiving sets will be installed in homes, in such a manner that by merely inserting a few cents of the same kind as Mr. Heinrich's can be heard. That this is not a far fetched idea is attested by the fact that radio engineers are working on the problem of this at the moment. Perfection and new inventions have come very swiftly in the past two years so it is very probable that the individual radio set for the home is an article of the very near future.

Mr. Heinrich is one of the few recognized artists of the country to take a keen interest in the adaptation of his music to the radio telephone. His musical career has included studies at the National Conservatory of Music in New York and the Royal Academy of Music in London. He has also been organist and music director of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, organist of the Church of the Ascension, New York, organist of Temple Beth El, organ harmony and counterpoint at the National Conservatory of Music of New York prior to taking up his duties at the Carnegie Institute, where he has been for the past 14 years.

list and one who is recognized as a master musician plays regularly for wireless entertainment.

However, by arrangement with the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company at East Pittsburgh, Pa., Mr. Heinrich's Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon recitals are broadcasted, station KDKA, as it has been licensed, has been giving concerts regularly and has a large list of amateurs in nearly all sections of the country for its audience. The effect of a concert recital by a master organist upon

Mr. Roosevelt contended, shows the meditated and unfair purpose of setting what they mistakenly believed to be a partisan political advantage.

Senator King of Utah, the Democratic member of the investigating committee, will file a minority report later.

The crux of the majority report, that with the knowledge of Mr. Daniels and Mr. Roosevelt enlisted men in the navy were improperly used as participants in immoral practices, is secure evidence on which to dismiss offenders from the navy.

Mr. Roosevelt in his statement said that when in September 1918 he was acting chief of the investigation, the investigating squad had been highly improper and that the methods in getting evidence were not proper. He said that he had sent out the squad to stop it.

Minor N. D. July 19.—The hat an hour after the standard of the day was set in a man yesterday. Mr. Anderson and Leonard, who had confessed to the blowing of the station blow, were caught at Moorhead, Minn., and Carleton.

It is believed that for all the time and work, about $5,000 was paid. The amount taken he will know until the trial is completed.

FEW PLACES WHERE COMPASS SHOWS NORTH

True Direction Guided Only By Observations of Sun or Stars

At the same place at different times. At Indianapolis, for example, declination was 12 degrees east in 1920 and only 1 degree east in 1921. It is necessary to repeat the observations at certain intervals of time.

In the United States, the present declination is 11 degrees east, except in the north-west of the line. The variation which has been determined is 11 degrees. The direction of a compass will also change in case of the declination by as much as 1 degree. The extreme easterly declination occurs S. A. M. and the westerly extreme, 10 P. M. This means that if a surveyor runs a line a mile long by compass, S. A. M. and an attempt to run the line a mile long by compass, he will have two ends which are 20 feet apart. This difference is not a great one, but it is not negligible. The range of declination is 11 degrees, with more or less variation. The Coast and Geodetic Survey has five or six stations each with a theodolite which is used to determine the declination.

No one was really surprised that the entire stenographic class passed a recent Civil Service examination. All four, Misses Grinnley, Plovhar, Moe and Brending, were trained at Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., a school famous for turning out exceptionally efficient office workers. Courses are practical, interesting, give pupils a solid groundwork for success. Some 218 graduates are now bank officers.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(Established 1873)

THE EASIEST WAY

In Pueblo, Colorado, which is rebuilding from its great flood, many of the people are blaming the catastrophe on the Lord.

"Acts of God and the public enemy."

So runs the old common law phrase about great calamities, and it still faithfully mirrors a large part of public opinion.

Pueblo, in building, stuck to the easiest way—the river flats. Like most of the rest of us. We fail to use the brains we have and then call calamity something other than what it is—the result of human folly or weakness.

Pueblo had warning from the Indian traditions of the flood possibilities of the Arkansas River.

She had a warning flood in 1894.

She had another warning 20 years ago when Rockefeller engineers, noting that the Arkansas locally was a little river in a narrow valley, took heed and built the great Minnequa steel plant on high ground. They also warned Pueblo at the time.

This steel plant was untouched by the recent flood. But Pueblo's other industries and her railroads, which had preferred the easy grades of the bottom-lands to expensive tunnels and steep grades, were ruined.

Levees are out of the question at Pueblo. The Mississippi rises inch by inch over a 1000-mile course. The Arkansas goes up five or six feet an hour and levees to hold it would have to out-top the Woolworth Building.

Will Pueblo move up on the hillside?

Probably not. For, with the exception of Pompeii, men have always rebuilt on the scenes of great disasters.

We are like moths that return to the candle-flame.

Scientists are excavating Beth-shan, ancient city of Palestine.

Buried beneath it are 10 other cities, one rising on top of the other. Some were destroyed by invading armies, others by fires and great natural disasters such as earthquakes.

So it goes all through history—the survivors returning, like aunts, to rebuild on the site of disaster.

It is a monument to man's refusal to become discouraged; in isolated cases, like Pueblo, a monument to the universal tendency to follow the easiest way, regardless of dangers.

You find the same thing in the average life—a man making the same mistake over and over again. Few of us learn our lesson. That's why real success is reached by the road of obstacles, not by the easiest way.

Skeletons may now be imported free. Perhaps the supply in European closets exceeds the demand.

SMOKERETS

Congressman Paul Johnson of Mississippi doesn't believe in equal rights for women.

He has introduced a bill in Congress which would subject to a fine of $25 any woman guilty of smoking in the District of Columbia. Men would be permitted to puff as usual.

Still, with the tax and tariff bills buried in committee, Congress must have something to talk about during the summer.

ARE YOU A LEADER?

One of the strangest things in nature—something that determines whether you are to be a success or failure—is reported by a man just back from a fishing trip in Canada.

He saw a school of thousands of baby salmon trout, about half as long as pins, swimming in military formation, following a leader.

"That leader looked just like the rest," says the fisherman. "What made him take charge of all the others? And what made the others follow him as naturally as the rear wheels of a jitney follow the front wheels?"

If you can fathom that problem, you have the secret of success—and the whole science of government.

The fisherman took a minnow net and caught the tiny trout leader. Immediately another baby trout took the leader's place and the school swam on without an instant's pause.

Is that just a trick? Human beings do the same.

In Chicago, 1400 unemployed negroes thought they'd found a way to escape rent. Along the tracks of the Illinois Central Railroad, they built a dugout, like those back of the lines in France during the war.

The railroad is evicting them.

The important news in the incident is that those 100 men had found it impossible to live together without establishing a well organized government. They had their own city council, a mayor, a judge, a police force and a quartermaster's department.

You can't get away from this thing called government.

If you were shipwrecked on a South Sea island with two friends, it wouldn't be 10 minutes until one of you three would become ruler—step forward as leader, begin to give orders and take the initiative in hunting food, building shelter and selecting a location for a beacon-fire to attract passing ships.

Wild geese fly in wedge formation, with a leader at the head. Shoot that leader and the formation will close up without stopping, a new leader taking the former's place.

Shoot the leader of wild ducks and the flock is confused. They head for the nearest marsh and, after much quacking, soar up again with a new leader. Do they elect him? Indians say, yes.

Even the timber wolves, hermits by nature, run in packs during winter, as a combination for war, for acquiring food.

In parts of China, men live without religion. In ancient Sparta, they lived without the family institution.

But wherever men congregate, the organization called government is inevitable. It's a natural law—to have a leader.

MEANEST MAN

Chicago insists that the meanest man prize be kept within her corporate limits. Her latest candidate for this "honor" has just been sentenced to the penitentiary for five years by Federal Judge Landis, after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of robbing the mails of disabled service men's compensation checks.

In passing sentence Judge Landis said: "It takes a man without any heart to rob a disabled war hero."

Murder is not the only crime that deserves the death penalty.

REAL MENACE

The war which has been going on for months between the Kemalists Turks and the Greeks is an affair of much greater magnitude than the people of this country realize. If there were not so many other great events occurring throughout the world, this Turko-Greek war would be considered news of the first importance.

The great European powers are becoming alarmed lest the Turks under Kemal follow up the advantage they have already gained by making Constantinople and the Dardanelles untenable for allied troops and ships and thus upset the whole settlement of the near-East question.

There seems little doubt that the situation has developed into one of great seriousness.

One of the incidents of the war which is rather amazing to us Americans is that 700,000 Greeks are already numbered among its victims.

It is estimated that the total loss of life directly due to the war was at least a million up to July 1. And the end is not in sight.

ROTATING WORK

President Harding in his latest message to Congress suggested that a small bonus is a poor palliative to the millions of men who are faced with unemployment. Many of these have no thought of prospect of a bonus to relieve their situation.

This section of the country has not suffered greatly from unemployment so far, except in the mining districts. But the condition is so widespread that social workers are giving much thought to it. From their study some interesting suggestions have been issued.

Charitable relief for unemployment is but a makeshift. Unemployment insurance is a doubtful good. So far as possible, relief should come from readjustment in industry and wage scales. With this in mind many Eastern factories have established rotation of employment. Under this system one shift of workers are put on the job a week and then go off for a week, while others take their places, or different shifts take alternate days. It is found that such rotation is not expensive, and that by means of it work is given to all rather than a few getting all the work.

Where the work is highly skilled, such rotation is difficult if not impossible. But the vast majority of workers are semi-skilled.

Until the cost of living and wage scales are readjusted, rotation of employment is a better meliorative than Government aid. Federal employment insurance or direct relief. Of course, the only complete remedy for unemployment is a return to normalcy in living costs and wages. But a reduction of seasonal output in industry, public building and construction work and rotation in employment are useful palliatives until better conditions obtain.—Minneapolis Journal.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The dense fog rushed out of the bags that Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow had brought.

The dense fog rushed out of the bags that Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow had brought, and settled like thick smoke all through the valley.

Farmer Smith's bass-patch garden was completely covered, so was the swamp and the plum tree where Biddy Bantam was roosting (so that she could keep one eye on her nest hidden in the hay stack). You know she was going to chuck very soon, so she found a safe place to keep her eggs until she was ready to sit on them.

Mr. Moon, looking down with a kindly smile, was ever so surprised to discover all at once that he could no longer see a thing that was going on in the valley. He'd seen Fleet Fox sneak out of the woods toward the plum tree, and he'd seen Cattle Cotton-tail pop off toward the garden, and he'd seen Chris Crow follow Cattle, but now he couldn't see anything at all. It was exactly as though someone had laid a nice clean white sheet over that part of the world.

But Mr. Moon wasn't the only one who was surprised. Biddy Bantam suddenly opened her eyes wide and squawked. "What's wrong? Where's the hay stack gone that had my nest in it? Where's everything gone?" And she flopped down out of the plum tree into the fog. Fleet Fox saw her too, but how could he follow when he couldn't see two inches in front of his sharp nose.

Chris Crow, snooping after Cattle, had just got as far as the plum tree when the fog settled down. "Caw!" he croaked. "Where's that bunny gone? I can't see anything. What's happened?"

Chris flopped into the plum tree just as Biddy flew down. Fleet Fox couldn't see very well, but he could hear and he thought that Biddy had come back. (To Be Continued.)

MEET BARON BYNG O' THE TANKS!

HE'S COMING TO GOVERN CANADA

By Milton Bronner

London, July 19.—Baron Byng of the Tanks sails for America Aug. 3.

The immortal hero of Vimy Ridge—the British general who for the first time in history unleashed a fleet of battle tanks at Cambrai and routed a superior force of awe-struck Germans—comes to Canada to assume his new duties as governor general for five years.

I asked him to talk to me about himself, his plans, his hopes and aspirations—always a hard thing for a man who has done big things to consent to do.

Picture him: 59 years old, straight as a line, almost six feet, with dark brown hair, scarcely showing any gray; a dark brown mustache, and friendly smiling blue eyes. All the time he talks he puffs at a little briar pipe which has gone through many a battle with him.

"I expect to be sworn in at Quebec Aug. 10 and to be in Ottawa on Aug. 11," he says. "I have never held a diplomatic position before. I am not a diplomat, but I think my good friends, the Canadians, will pull me out of holes as they have done before."

"Canada's a democratic country like the United States," I ventured. "They will take to you because you are democratic."

"Oh, everybody has to be democratic."

the these days. Did you ever hear of the word post-war-dom? That is the condition of all the civilized world. It means that since the war the world is more democratic, people are democratic, institutions are democratic. It's an age of more simplicity. It's also an age of more criticism. "People take a man only for what he is, not for what he was born, nor for what he imagines himself to be."

"The thing I am proud of about this appointment to Canada is that the Canadians themselves wanted me. They asked for me. And if anybody knows me, it's the Canadians. They were a real fighting lot."

"When the king conferred the peerage upon me, I said I wanted to be called Baron Byng of Vimy in commemoration of the great battle of Vimy Ridge the Canadian troops fought. But I didn't want to take that title unless the Canadians were satisfied I should. So I sent word to them and got a very satisfactory answer."

I asked him whether he was going to visit us while he was governor general.

"I can't," he replied. "It's an unwritten rule that the governor general does not leave Canada. His wife can, his staff can, but not he."

"Still, I can go down and look at the most wonderful frontier in the world, the Canadian-American border which has never had its parallel. Three thousand miles with not a soldier nor a fort, nor a gun on either side, but everywhere the signs of amity and peace. That's a wonderful object lesson for the world."

Julian Byng joined the army in 1880, saw service in the Sudan and in the Boer war, becoming a colonel. At the outbreak of the big war he was in command of the British troops in Egypt. He fought in France and Gallipoli. Returning to France as a lieutenant general, he had command of the 17th corps and in May, 1916, was given command of the Canadian corps with which his name is closely associated. With them he won the great surprise battle of Cambrai with the tanks. He was made a full general and in the final campaign, of 1918 his army held the line north of the Somme and won some crushing victories against the Germans.

The government made him a peer, gave him the thanks of Parliament and a grant of 20,000 pounds. In August, 1919, he resigned from the army to

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. whether the income will pay the interest on the investment is yet to be learned. For instance, the poultry farm at Leroy, which I went over today, is sending a shipment to Japan tomorrow at $250 a bird, and $100 each for the hens. These birds are dupliated here by the thousand. (In his farm today there are more than 20,000 birds that are potential prize winners.)

"There is no clear set of books or accounts on the farm to show just what the returns have been. We can't tell what to charge to investment, and what has been spent foolishly."

Austin, "Cy" Thomson's "home town" can't call "Cy" a criminal. It mitigates his crime, though he admits it. On the heels of revelations of theft of more than $150,000 by their idol, the citizens do not point the finger of scorn at him, nor has the arm band of the law been laid on his shoulder.

Sentiment, buttressed on Thomson's benefactions to the city and on his mysterious genius for "doing things," is in the ascendency.

MARKETS

WHEAT STRENGTHENS.
Chicago, July 19. Wheat prices developed strength today after a weak start. Houses with eastern connections were active on the buying side and country offerings were reported light. It was said gains in Kansas and Nebraska had interfered with threshing. Initial quotations, which varied from unchanged to 1-4 cents lower were followed by upturns all around to well above yesterday's finish.
Subsequently weakness of Sterling exchange, but not of a lasting sort. Close, unsettled, 1-2 to 1-4 cents net higher.

TOM-TOM ADS BANNED

CANTON, July 19.-When a Chinese merchant wanted to advertise a bargain sale, he hired an army to go about beating gongs and drums and shouting the news. Movie houses adopted the same method. Now a new police regulation forbids it.

Immigrants Tell of Flight from Russia

Riga, Latvia, July 19.-Little groups of Russian-Americans, who were deported or volunteered to go from America to Soviet Russia, are trickling back across the Latvian frontier from the land of the Bolsheviks very frequently. These days, all with the hope of getting back to the United States.
These emigrants, according to American consular officials, who hear their stories and have to tell them, get back, are greatly disappointed with what they found in the "Promised Land."
They tell of starvation and long rides in trains so packed with people that there is scarcely room to breathe.
Besides those who have succeeded in getting to Latvia, there are many others who have written friends in America asking for money from America.
The Moscow correspondent of the Riga Rundschau writes as follows about the Russian-Americans inside the country.
"The number of Russian Communist expelled from America, who with very few are selling their last goods and chatties on the Moscow market places are increasing every day.
"The Soviet government is doing its utmost to keep these people above water by giving them even whole factories to run and to manage. But as these factories are very much run down, even American spirit and energy is not sufficiently strong to set them in operation.
"A little better off are those of the emigrants who have managed to take with them from America their tools or goods produced by their trade. Such people are doing a big business and can afford to live well. Thus, one party of emigrants has succeeded in installing a small sewing factory containing about 300 sewing machines.
"Formerly the Soviet government would have simply confiscated this lucrative enterprise but at present the government is a little wary, the more so as in this case they have to do with emigrants whom they make a point of treating with the greatest possible courtesy and consideration.
"Quite recently there arrived a party of Americans whose specialty is the construction of small dwelling houses. They are welcomed and aided by the Soviet government."

LEGION MAN ON LONG HIKE

Sergeant Sylvester of Indiana is Scheduled to Walk 737 Miles to Boost Training Camps.
Former doughboys will reflect long on the sad case of Sergt. Harley C. Sylvester, who likes the walking branch of the service so well that he voluntarily agreed to hike an average of 18 1/2 miles a day for 40 days to tell the peaceful citizenry why they should learn to fight.
When officials of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., looked about for the representative type of American soldier to advertise the citizens' military training camps to be held during the summer, they found Sgt. Sylvester, overseas veteran and member of the American Legion at the military post, still in the service.
Sergeant Sylvester is scheduled to cover 737 miles during the 40 days. He is visiting towns and cities in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. He carries light marching equipment and is the guest of his buddies in the Legion posts along the dusty route.
The American Legion will assist in obtaining recruits for the citizens' military training camps, according to a resolution adopted by the military policy committee of the ex-service men's organization.

Permanently Disabled Yank, Propped Up in Bed, Signs Over Bonus Check to Post.
A striking example of the gratitude of the nation's disabled veterans for those who have aided them in their hours of suffering has come to the attention of Lee C. Prentice, post of the American Legion in Fairmont, Minn.
Clarence Lappin, a young soldier severely wounded on the battlefields of France and now in hospital, rated totally and permanently disabled, received a check in payment for the state bonus while taking treatment in a sanitarium at Fairmont.
Asking to be propped up in bed, Lappin indicated the slip, and for several hundred dollars, to the Prentice post of the Legion. "When I needed help," said the boy who had given the last of his life to his country, "the Legion has stood by me. Now I'm going to do my little bit to help them get those bonuses they are after."

TAKE ASPHALT OFF DUTY LIST IN THE HOUSE

Washington, July 19. (The Associated Press.)-A measure to expunge from the public works list the item for the purchase of asphalt was introduced in the House today by Rep. Charles C. McNary, of Oregon. McNary said that the item had been placed on the list by the War Department, and that it was not a public work, but a private one, and that it should be removed from the list.

PADUCAH HAS A STREET OF WOMEN PRESIDENTS

MRS. HENRY REYNOLDS, UPPER LEFT; MISS REBECCA SMITH, UPPER RIGHT; MISS ANNA BAKER, LOWER LEFT; MRS. ROY MCKINNEY, LOWER RIGHT.

PADUCAH, Ky., July 19.—Broadway, in this town of wide shady lawns and hospitable homes, is a street of presidents—women presidents. Two national presidents live in the same yard, a state president lives next door and another state president lives within a stone's throw. This president business began, oh—a number of years ago.
It was when Rebecca Washington Smith was seven years old that she stripped her bank of its pennies and sent a telegram of good wishes to her aunt, Mrs. Roy Weeks McKinney, who had just been elected president of the Kentucky United Daughters of the Confederacy.
"I'll be president of something some day," she said gravely.
Of course she had to live up to that youthful prediction, and, thus in young womanhood, became national president of the Kapa Delta Sorority. Mrs. McKinney, her cousin, is now national president of the U. D. C., and they live in the same house on Broadway.

Mrs. Henry Gilbert Reynolds, president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, lives next door.
Miss Anna L. Baker, who completes the trio of presidents, heads the Kentucky organization of Business and Professional Women and will take part in the program of their national convention which opens July 18 at Cleveland. Miss Baker is assistant transportation manager for Ayer & Lord Tie Company, a large timber concern. She directs its shipping on the Tennessee, Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Miss Blanche Geary, and Plan and Sketch of Her "Air Castle"

THIS is the house that Jill built, labor saving, they are a realization at last of the self-supporting woman's ideal of a job and home life in one.

The Country Cottage colony is the name by which this unit of inviting little houses is known. The ground being bought and the houses built on the cooperative plan, the should have no homes, excepting such as can be constructed up in city apartments or boarding house rooms, she constructed a little air castle to fit the single woman, her income, and her presumably narrow margin of time for housekeeping. Now, behold, the castle of the air is being given a foundation of solid earth, with stucco walls and a shingle roof. On a plot of ground situated in the country, yet within easy commuting distance of New York, thirty-five of these Jill houses, each on its individual plot 40x115 feet, are being put up. Two sizes are offered, one designed for occupancy by one, the other for a group of three or four. Small enough to be cozy, large enough to be complete, free of the constraint of a city apartment, open to all the air there and arranged for convenience and Though devised and promoted by the Y. W. C. A. as a solution of a pressing problem of high rentals and conglomerate housing, this "cooperative cottage apartment" house is available for any women anywhere. By addressing Miss Geary, at 600 Lexington Avenue, New York City, any woman, be she in Seattle, Atlanta, or Kalamazoo, can secure full particulars concerning the scheme and how to go about forming self-governed groups for similar solution of their living problems in other localities.
